[COMMUNICATED.] OUR relations with the Empire of China should command our most earnest attention. The Chinamen now resident in the Kingdom are about equal to the whole of the adult native male population. Such a proponderance of foreigners in any country would of course commend the highest consideration of State. Were this preponderance of any other race, but Chinese, we do not think we could now discuss the question so calmly. Nay, were one-fourth of their numbers here, represented by some other races, we could mention, there would result immediate revolution and political change. But, happily the Chinaman is change. But, happily the Chinaman is here as every where else, a devoted business man and not in the slightest degree a politician. The Chinaman does not care for a vote. He may be induced by certain considerations affecting his settlement and welfare in the country, to take out a paper of naturalization, but it is not with the object of exercising any franchise. At the late election in Honolulu, which has over 6000 Chinese residents, all male adults, and thus physically qualified for the franchise, and many of them having naturalization paper; yet not one Chinaman cast a ballot. Thus we have their presence everywhere and in every pursuit, but as yet without a shadow of political interference on their part. This state of things should commend all the more such a people to the just consideration of the State. We have attempted by Legislation to regulate the immigration and settlement of the Chinese in these islands; but as this attempted regulation was entirely ex parte the Ruler of the country interposed a stay of proceedings until our questions with the Chinese should be duly settled by mutual agreement. To decide upon the relations between two people by the enactments of one of them alone is like the dictation of conqueror to enactment or of superior to propose the second secon to conquered or of superior to inferior. To regulate differences and questions between people by treaty is the salutary adjustment of controversy that takes place beween friends. Little Hawaii is esteemed the friend of great China. The eminent Viceroy Li Hung Chang said to our King who visited him in Tientsin, that nowhere else in the world outside of the Celestial Empire had the Chinese emigrant been so, well treated as in His Majesty's dominions. This expression of friendly opinion of the leading statesman of China is we are well informed, wide spread in the great Empire: We should endeavor, not only to maintain, but to improve these excellent relations with our multitudinous friends. Of course, political relations between a State of thousands and any State of millions must be surrounded with circumstances and relations with China. The Anti-Chinese alarmist point not only to the overwhelming population of China, but to the jealous the part of our mighty neighbor bounding our Pacific border. However, whatever the views, whatever the circumstances connected with Chinese intercourse, the migratory flow from that great hive of humanity naffected with conditions that require the gravest consideration on the part of the smaller State. This has been the part of the smaller State. This has been duly weighed in the consideration of our relations with China. The Anti-Chinese influence on the part of our mighty neighbor bounding our Pacific border. However, whatever the views, whatever the circumstances connected with Chinese intercourse, the migratory flow from that great hive of humanity of the part of the smaller State. This has been that for the Busil, but got nothing. Yes, OLD PICKLES, he has been at that for the last you see his game is up. The King has before the prosecuting commission. He counters the same time, he don't wish to be self-shing received a peremptory command from Arabi Pasha, and as the conflagration did not at first appear to be general, Arabi sent orders through Mahmoud to fire more places. Suleiman also states that Arabi Pasha on the 12th of July ordered them to take soldiers to Adamleh affected with conditions that require which has been held in abeyance mainly because the Chinese themselves do not press any question whatever upon our attention. It is a question aroused by a sense of duty our common humanity which presses upon our attention. It is impossible; it would be criminal for rulers to be indiffer-ent to the regulation of the incoming and condition of so large a proportion of foreign population as the Chinese constitute in this country. The relations of the two States and their people should be settled by mutual agreement, and if Anti-Chinese alarmists, and others affected by their views, will bear in mind the admirable peaceful character of our very large Chinese population, will consider the energy with which they pursue productive industries in hitherto profitless nooks and corners of our islands, and will recall to mind the exalted and friendly opinion expressed by the actual ruler of China, they will feel assured that there is no ground for apprehension by establishing on a proper basis the relations between the Hawaiian Kingdom and the Chinese Empire.

THEIR Excellencies the Premier and the Minister of Finance left town yesterday on a tour of inspection of the island of Oahu. This is a circumstance which we chronicle with much pleasure. When, some months ago, the report to the Legislature of the late Minister of the Interior was before us for review we took occasion to remark that if that gentleman had taken pains to make himself as well acquainted with the other islands as he appeared to be with Oahu, his report would have contained a great many if that gentleman had taken pains to make remarks which did not appear in it. We are glad to see members of the present Ministry recognize the fact that something more than the routine of office work falls within the sphere of their duties, that they are stewards of an extensive domain, and custodians of the interests of residents in localities which differ from one another as much in their special needs as they do in geographical position. In the old world, when Ministers make progresses through the countries whose Government they take part in, their objects (when not merely those of pleasure) are generally political. Except to make speeches and show their faces among members of their party, they have nothing to call them from their offices. It should be quite different in countries where a rapid growth of the material civilization is going on, and especially in a country like this, where the whole management and control of internal communication, police affairs, and other things, which in old countries are attended to by local authorities, rests in the hands of the Government. The growth of this country in wealth, in productive enterprise, and in population, is naturally accompanied by a corresponding growth in its need of the material accessories to industrial development. No one who has not at least a general acquaintance with the condition and wants of the country founded on personal observation can properly determine and control the action of the Government thereto. And changes are going on so rapidly in some parts of this Kingdom that knowledge acquired in years past is not suffi- the advantage of tuition at the hands of profescient. A LAW was passed in 1880 prohibiting washhouses within the city limits and provision was made for its enforcement by the erection of suitable buildings on the bank of the stream adjacent to the King street bridge. Then you have got all of those workmen?
YOU BET! This go West business I must explain to you, OLD PICKLES. Some years ago there was another OLD CRANK that published a paper in New York aslled the New York Tribune. He used to give advice to all young men to "go West." Well, this Go West was living down in Nova Scotia, and it was with him as with an old family by the name of Ransom in New Jersey. The old man was well to do in this world's goods, but never went to church, whilst the old woman was somewhat incland to go to church. Some of their GALS were getting up in their teens, and the old woman thought they ought to go in some society, so she kept teasing the old man to go to church and let the GALS get in Society, that they were approaching womanhood, and if they did not get them in society they might die old manks. So she made an impression on the old man, and he consented to go, to gratify mamma's wishes; but still, at the same time, the old man was not very anxious about it. Finally they got started, but on the way the old man says. time, the old man was not very anxious about it. Finally they got started, but on the way the old man says, "Mother, I have not been in the church since we were

"Mother, I have not been in the church since we were married, so I think the old dominie will make some remarks about it." Says the old woman. "You talk like an old fool, the dominie may not know that we are in the church." "Well now, old woman, you have your way about it, but you see." So they got to church and the usher seated them all right, and the two GALS; but tho dominie that married them over twenty years before, kept eyeing the old man, and the old man droping his head, finally the old dominie in the public rose up, onenhead, finally the old dominic in the pulpit rose up, opened his hyan book and commenced to read, thusly. "Return ye Ransom, Sinner Home." The old man rose up and sail, "By Jove, mother, what did I tell you about this." But the old woman insisted that he didn't mean them." "Ah," says the old man, "there are no other hand in this house, tou can't food head that I can't Ransoms in this house, you can't fool me on that, I can't host that in." So home they went and haven't been to church since. This is a parallel case with that of Go West. That young man was a reader of the Tribune, and he saw the "go West" in it, so he got up and got, and is now in the Swamp.

Well, OLD PICKLES, I am worried with you.

Have you any objections to being called SUNFLOWER?

Not at all, OLD PICKLES, on the contrary I think it is would do so, if it were not so soft and silly. I thought that Hocos-pocus-rhincus would have done better for the amount paid for it.
